Pearre Triumphs

The Enemies of the Young Napoleon Routed.

Special to the Washington Post. Frederick, July 3 .- The Six Congressional district Republican nominating convention met in Frederick at noon to-day and renominated Col. George A. Pearre for Congress by acclamation. Notwithstanding the fact that the unanimous indorsement of Col. Pearre pry, sergeants. was a foregone conclusion, the convention was largely attended, all the counties of the district being represented by large delegations.

Convention Organized.

The convention was called to order at County, chairman of the Sixth Congress sional district committee; Col. John R. Rouzer, of Thurmont, Frederick County, was made temporary chairman, and was elected secretary.

A slight riffle in the otherwise smooth be recognized as the regular delegates. As was expected, the contesting delegates, who were chosen at a recent convention in Frederick, were declared irregular, and the regular delegation, consisting of George R. Dennis, Charles T. L. Bode. K. Young, Richard R. Perry, Reno S. Harp, Col. John R. Rouzer, and William F. Richards, was recognized.

JUVENILE COURT OPENS.

Long before I o'clock Monday an interested crowd, composed of lawyers, ousiness men, philanthropists, members of woman's organizations, and policemen, had gathered in the old mansion at 1816 F street, N. W., to witness the opening session of the new Juvenile Court, over which Judge William De Lacey was to preside for the first time.

The parlors of the mansion had been transformed into a veritable flower garden by the many beautiful floral tributes which had been sent to the new judge. The American flag, which adorned the walls, gave the necessary touch of patriotism. Commissioners West and Biddle were interested witnesses of the proceedings. BMALL POSTS IN WEST WILL SOON BE ABANDONED.

Passing of Indian Fighting Ends Need for Them, Says Army Officer-Agitation for Higher Salary.

Sioux City, Ia.-The small military posts which are scattered through the country west of the Missouri river are doomed to be abandoned before many auore years, according to Capt. Fred Jernston, of the United States artillery, a former Sioux City boy, who as here on a visit after two years' absence at coast defense stations in New York and Florida.

Capt. Johnston left the Sioux City thigh school in 1893 to enter West Point, where he graduated in 1897.

'From now on the tendency will be to abandon small posts, where only a frection of a regiment is stationed, and concentrate the men at the large stations, such as Fort Riley, Kan.," said Capt. Johnston. "With the army scattered over a number of small posts it is impossible to give the general officers the training which they should have in handling large bodies of men. Now even regiments are often broken up in several detachments.

During the days of Indian warfare 'it was necessary to maintain a large number of small posts. The fighting was of the help-vourself variety, and a large force could not be used to advantage.

"But the time of frontier fighting is past. The United States has become a world power, and the army must be something more than a well-trained enounted police. The Russo-Japanese contest demonstrated that the art of modern warfare consists in handling large bodies of troops as though they were one company. Almost all the English maneuvers are concentrated at Aldershot to give this training, and that is largely the purpose of the yearly maneuvers at Fort Riley in this country. We are all wondering whether there are to be maneuvers this year. Congress so far has failed to make an appropriation for the puropse, and the lans for the big encampment are being held up until action is taken."

Capt. Johnston admitted that there has been much agitation for a higher scale of salaries for army officers, but said that he was well satisfied with the present scale

"Salaries for the army were fixed 30 years ago," said, "and since then the post of living has advanced 20 per cent. If the scale was proportionate when it was established, you can eas-'ily see the present situation. Many officers have a private income in addition to their salary. It is probably rather difficult for a married man to make ends meet unless he has independent means. This is especially true since we have acquired foreign possessions. Officers often are obliged to maintain two establishments, or else transport their families several thousand miles at great expense. But I don't believe the need for larger salaries is pressing among officers.

"Our greatest difficulty is in getting listed men. Their wages also have remained the same $13 a month for infantry. This is more than European countries pay, but living is cheaper across the water."

Capt. Johnston will leave in a short the pay corps. Although his duties will be more arduous, the work is important, and is a welcome change from garrison life.

MUMMY OF QUEER BEAST.

Animal with Human Head That Could Either Walk, Swim or Fly.

Reno, Nev.-What looks like a combination of a Chinese devil and a nightmare was brought to Carson the other day by J. B. Kenny and Ed. Wallis, who found the uncanny obman being, nose, mouth and eyes, but could de almost anything from swimming in water to sailing in the air like a kite. Prof. Smith took a photograph of it and will send a copy to Prof. Frandsen, of the University of Nevada. The head is about the size of a baseball, and though it has no body, it has legs like a frog. Sixty teeth, three of them broken, grace the mouth, which perpetually grins. It is an absolutely unique species of some animal that used to walk, swim or fly, according as its tancy chose.

Tuning a Piano by Telephone. Wabash, Ind.—The novel feat of tuning a piano by the use of the telephone was accomplished by M. J. Archer, a plano tuner of this city. Some time ago Mr. Archer sold a piano to Thomas Pilkington at South Bend. Miss' Pilkington called Mr. Archer up and advised him the piano needed a tuning. She was asked to sound the instrument, which was near the telephone. The tone was trans mitted clearly to Wabash, and directions were given which enabled her to change the tension. The directions were carried out and the instrument repeatedly sounded until it was perectly tuned and the tones all normal.

RILLED A MAN IN MAINE. . HAS Then Fled to California and Lived There Forty Years Under an Assumed Name.

Sacramento, Cal.-Walter Marvin Lancaster has carried his secret with him to the grave. He lived for nearly 40 years in Bear Valley, this county, under the name of John Lang, and nobody guessed that it was assumed un-deeth. He blew his brains out.

The inquest developed that Lang was not the correct name of the decedent. A witness stated that a short time ago Lang told him that in case anything should happen he wanted it known that his true name was Walter Marvin Lancaster, and that he was a native of Maine. Lancaster further said that he had killed a man in Maine many years ago, but had been acquitted. Fearing that the dead man's, friends would take his life, however, he said he had fled his home and changed his name to John Lang.

It was under that name he located in Bear Valley, set out a little orchard and built him a cozy home. He was highly regarded by all his heighbors, with whom he was on very friendly terms, though of his past life none of them had the slighest inkling. For years he conducted the Culbertson toll bridge at his home, but after it went out of commission like many others, he still clung to the valley and seemed content to spend his days there. He was a man of gigantic build.

WINE LOST BY THE FIRE.

Over 15,000,000 Gallons Destroyed in San Francisco Disaster According to Official Report.

San Francisco.-Percy T. Morgan, president of the California Wine association, has addressed a communication to the stockholders of the association, in which he sets forth that the principal inconvenience caused to the wine industry by the fire in April was brought about by the destruction of old matured stocks of wine in San Francisco that cannot be replaced. Owing to the system of managing the business in the past, it will still, be possible to continue dividends, as reserves had been created against contingencies. The usual dividend checks will be left with the Union Trust company for distribution to the stockhold-

The stock of the California Wine association in this city was not a total loss, as 2,100,000 gallons of wine that passed through the fire was available for making brandy. The loss amounted to 5,000,000 gallons of wine in the fire, and the smaller houses had an aggregate loss. Morgan estimates, of 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 gallons, making up a total wine loss in San Francisco of 13,000,000 to 15,000,000 gallons. The California Wine association occupied leased premises before the fire. It owns realty near the old. site, and a building may be erected. No decision in that regard has been

Has Revolutionary Relics. Philadelphia.-E. W. Smith, of this city, has in his possession the lock which was the original fastener on the rear door of Independence hall. It was taken off the door when the famous building was repaired for the centennial celebration, and was secured by Mrs. George Lyman Miller, whose husband was at that time in charge of the hall. Mrs. Miller also secured at the same time several pieces of oak lumber-flooring, joists and posts-which had been used in the original structure, and out of this she has made an "old '76" table service, consisting of napkin rings, plates and dishes, 76 in number. At the e time of the repairs mentioned the Liberty bell was also repaired, and a number of small pieces of it were secured. One of these pieces is imbedded in each article of the table service.

Champion Dog Catcher. London.-Constable Robert Lovell, who has just retired from the Metropolitan police force, claims that in the course of his 23 years' service as dog catcher he has captured no fewer than 142,976 dogs. His comrades claim that he is the champion dog catcher of the world. He performed the ordinary duties of a constable for three years prior to becoming a dog catcher. His eatest year's work was done in 1896, when he conveyed 13,331 stray dogs to the Battersea home.

DOCTOR HOPES TO RESTORE LIFE BY SQUEEZING HEART.

B. Merrili Ricketts, a Cincinnati Physician, Would haperiment on Convicts, Offering Commutation in Carrel Burerss.

Cincinnati.-Dr. D. Merrill Ricketts, whose paper on the restoration of life by compression of the heart after it has ceased beating, read at the meeting of the American Medical association in Boston on June 6, created a sensation, consented to talk on the subject the other evening. He says a person who has been dead 20 minutes was brought back to life by manipulation of the heart.

'The heart has actually been stimulated to action one or two days after death," said the doctor, "yet one or two minutes after the cessation of the heart is time enough to justify a physician in opening the chest and squeezing the heart, much as one would a sponge, to renew its action.

"The class of cases in which this anipulation of the heart to renew life is especially applicable, is where ether or chloroform has been administered, where there has been inhalation of illuminating or other such gas, in cases of shock from fright, injury or surgical operation, drowning, electro cution, strangulation, loss of blood or probably in many cases of diseases or the administration of drugs.

"The results in all cases are influenced by prompt and skilled attention the quantity of blood lost, time and the cause of the suspended heart action mutilation of the body and general care. 'We have taken 25 dogs and chloroformed them until the heart ceased to beat. Then the chest was opened and the heart taken in the hand and squeezed about 60 times to the minute In about 75 per cent. of the animals the heart was made to beat again."

Dr. Ricketts will probably find himself the subject of much discussion for his urgent plea that criminal condemned to death or to ten years of more of imprisonment be offered the choice of commutation if they announce themselves willing subjects for experiments of this sort. He says: We know of 60 prisoners in the the penitentiaries who are life prisoners who are willing to be electrocuted and so experimented with provided that if resuscitated their freedom be given them." Summing up, Dr. Ricketts says that the total number of men operated upon for cardic stimulation is 39, and of these 12 recovered permanently,

MANY ILLS OF PHONE GIRLS

Physical Ailments Resulting from Frequent Exposure to Electricity.

Berlin.-How to be healthy and happy is a problem which the telephone girl is trying unsuccessfully to solve. Her work is trying, according to Dr. Wallbaum, of Berlin. He has drawn up a formidable list of symptoms noted in telephone girls, some of which may be classified as follows:

1. Symptoms of over-excitability, headache with giddiness, neuralgia of different kinds, and muscular tremors. 2. Symptoms of exhaustion, paralysis of the vocal cords, and pains in the chest.

3. Heart troubles and irregularity of the pulse.

Dr. Wallbaum attributes the symptoms to the frequent passage of the electric current to which the girls are exposed.

"It is undoubtedly true that telephone girls suffer from ills unknown to girls who follow other callings," declared a well-known nerve specialist. But I do not believe they are to any great extent due to electric currents. attribute the majority to the concentration which the work demands and the confined conditions they sometimes work under."

LIGHTNING'S WORK OF ART.

New Jersey Woman Declares a Bolt Printed a Snake and a Bird on Her Arm.

New York.-Mrs. Thomas Lynch was picking lettuce in her garden on Fulton street, Union Hill, N. J., when a remarkable storm descended. She went to her gate with a glass dish in Just then lightning struck so close by that her hand, touching the gate, felt the shock. She found that her fingers clasped the dish so tightly that she could not put it down. After some hours a feeling of numbness left her arm, her hand lost its cramp and she could loose her hold of the dish.

Next morning the arm became black and swollen. On it, between the shoulder and elbow, pale figures began to appear. Finally they showed plainly printed on the skin a picture of a bird resembling a pheasant, a picture of a snake and characters like the Chinese inscriptions on boxes of tea.

BUY AND RENT COURT GOWN

ndon Agencies Purchase Apparel Rich Ladies and Loan The to Poorer Sister.

London.-The custom of renting court trains and court gowns is the outcome of the edict that ladies need not appear at court more than once in three years. Court trains are very ex-pensive articles, and when one has been worn and there is no further use of it for three years, the owner is often only too glad to dispose of it for a fraction of the cost. Agencies are the purchasers, and they accumulate a stock which becomes useful to debutantes and their mothers or chaperons at subsequent courts.

"The smartest society women are willing to sell their $500 garments at half the cost, after wearing them only once," said the manager of a dress agency in an interview. We purchase these gowns and lease them to ladies of more slender means for $10 to $25. The court trains, after being worn once or twice for hire, are then cut up into opera coats and

The rental price of a handsome train of green brocade lined with pink silk was $25. An exquisite frock of dove gray chiffon, embroidered with panne and gold sequins, was marked at the utter a pagan prayer, one of those modest fee of five guineas, while a black tulle train powdered with silver sequins could be hired for $10.

Another dress agency manager spoke of the demand for what she called the 'pedigree gown."

"A mauve panne tea gown sold recently at a record price for a secondhand garment, merely because it once was the property of a duchess," she said. "I have even found it necessary to price many gowns according to their pedigrees. The muslin frock of a countess will fetch a higher figure than the chiffon model which came from the wardrobe of a baronet's

CLUBHOUSE LIKE COFFIN.

Social Organization Adopts Death Emblems to Combat Superstition.

New York.-Plans have been filed in the building department of this borough for a one-story brick, coffinshaped building, with 13 coffin-shaped windows and a doorway of the same style, ornamented with a skull and cross-bones. The panel of the central door will be in the shape of a coffin, and above the door will be the words "XIII. Club," while above that will be placed the motto of the club: "Morituri te salutamus."

On the upper part of the windows on the front of the building, will be the words: "Superstition, Ignorance, Prejudice and Bigotry," representing the four things that the Thirteen club has been organized to combat. The building is to be for the use of the Thirteen club.

The site of the building is that of the Fleet street, or Zion African Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn, unused since the fatal accident of February 27, 1905, in which 13 people were killed and a score wounded. The accident awakened the superstitious fear of the colored people of the neighborhood, and it was with difficulty that any of them could be persuaded, "Oh, Saint Mary, mother of God our to go into the building to rescue the injured. After the accident another place of worship was purchased by the all holy orders of blessed spirits, pray congregation.

Milwaukee.-Bishop Charles Chapman Grafton, head of the Epişeopa church in the diocese of Fond du Lac, Wis., who is charged with heresy by Rev. William Austin Smith, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Milwaukee, is one of the foremost high churchmen in this country. In a letter to the Living Church, Rev. Mr. Smith writes:
"One reads with amazement the let-

Shaban Bey Gotsha, Banished by Sultan, to Defy Buler-Big Reward for His Capture,

New York.-Despite the fact that there is a reward of $35,000 for his capture, dead or alive, Shaban Bey Gotsha, one of the Albanian revolutionary chieftains, now in America, is about to return to the land from which he was banished six years ago. Since Shaban Bey became a refugee he has been touring the world in the interests of his 3,000,000 fellow-countrymen, who want education and civilization, but cannot get it because the sultan and his followers are against them.

Six months ago the young revolutionary leader came to America to enlist sympathy and form a committee to cooperate with the Balkan committee already formed in England. CELEBRATION TO BE HELD ON THE RIVER IN 1909.

Three Hundredth Anniversary of Exploration and One Hundredth of Steam Navigation.

New York .- Plans for the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of Henry Hudson's exploration of the river which bears his name and the hundredth anniversary of the first successful navigation of that river by a steamboat took tangible form the other day at a meeting of the Hudson-Fulton celebration executive committee, presided over by Gen, Stewart L. Woodford, It was decided that the celebration should take place the week beginning September 20, 1909, and that instead of a temporary "world's fair" there should be dedicated works of lasting benefit to the people.

The first day of the celebration, it is arranged, will be devoted to a naval parade or aquatic pageant up Hudson in which the navies of the world, and especially those of the Netherlands and Great Britain, shall be invited to participate, as well as all manner of merchant and pleasure craft. It is recommended that a feature be models of the vessels Half Moon and Clermont, the Netherlands being asked to provide the model of the former. The deep-draught vessels will go as far as Haverstraw bay, the Half Moon and Clermont, escorted by smaller craft, continuing as far north as Albany, stopping opposite the riverside villages and citie and forming the center of local demonstrations. The second day will be marked by a land parade and literary, historical and musical exercises. The third day, dedication of memorials. One of these will be the Hudson memorial bridge, extending from Inwood Hill to Spuyten Duyvii Hill, across Spuyten Duyvill creek at its confluence with the Hudson river. It is recommended that a public park be acquired on Inwood Hill, at the southern terminus of the bridge, and that suitable buildings or monuments be erected there.

DUPONT ROUTS ADDICKS.

wder Trust Man Picked for United States Senator by Delaware Republicans.

Dover, Dal.-J. Edward Adideks for more than half a score of years can-didate for United States senator, is now thought to be down and out for good, as the Republican legislature caucus unanimously decided on Col. Henry A. Dupont for the long vacant seat and he was elected by the legislature.

Col. Dupont is a nephew of T. Coleman Dupont, executive head of the wealthy Dupont family, and president of the $50,000,000 powder trust. He is from Louisville, Ky., and has been in Delaware only a few years.

It was the financial difficulties in which Addicks was placed by the Boston gas deals that first brought Col. Dupont to the front. At one of the more recent elections there was no money with which to pay the usual $35 a vote—then Addicks lost his hold. The rise and fall of J. E. Addicks as a political potentate is an interesting story. His entry into Delaware some 11 years ago was unostentatious. He alighted from the Bosten express at Dover and walked into the Hotel Richardson. With him were two others. They mingled with the great throng of Republicans. They had arrived at a time when the legislature was deadlocked on the question of United States senator.

There was one vacancy to be filled. No one noticed the three men. The members of the state senate were too much occupied with the deadlock for that. The trio hunted up the newspaper correspondents. J. Edward Addicks was introduced as a Delawarean and a Republican willing to step into the breach and become a compromise candidate for the vacant senatorship. He was a good-natured, bluff sort of man. His anxiety to serve was duly set forth in the morning papers.

It was in this wise that Addicks-"Gas Addicks," "The Napoleon of Gas," as he was variously termed-began his political career-a career that caused a political upheaval, a cry from known function of white blood cor- all sides: "Away with this man! He is corrupting the state."

But Addicks had nerve. He fought on. He got control of the Republican machine and sent delegates to the St. Louis convention of 1896. His oppoable to perform their function, and the nents also sent delegates. The latter were seated.

The anti-Addicks men were defeated McKinley and Roosevelt were nominated. Hanna opposed the regulars, and President Roosevelt has since taken this view.

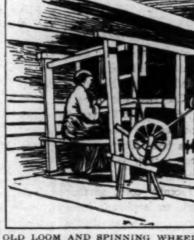

This did not prevent Addicks meeting another defeat for the United States senatorship in 1900.

Addicks has carried the fight along ever since only to meet defeat. Now he is down and out for good.

The vessel sailed out of the mouth of the Yangtsekiang one foggy morning recently, flying the imperial dragon flag of China, manned by Caucasians, and squared away with mat sails flying for her long cruise across the Pacific. On board the tug which helped the big junk clear of the river was an Angelenan, William McKenzie Milne who heaved a sigh of relief as the war junk squared away, for he had accomplished the heretofore deemed impossible task of securing a Chinese government war junk for the "white devils" and had circumvented the wily Chinese in their attempts to stop the departure of the boat after they had received the thousands of good hard American dollars in payment.

Famous Painting Discovered. A painting by Guido Reni, who lived about 1675 and was one of the 11 great masters, has been discovered in an old farmhouse in Knox county, Tenn., where it was left by a stranger before the war. The painting is an upturned face of a woman depicting life and animation. In the same house was found another masterplece, "The Birth of Christ," but the author is not of sambling, and are working with the known. C. REGICIDES ARE RETIRED.

Servian King Has Had a Number of Men Put Out of the Army.

Belgrade.—The five regicide officers whom King Peter retired from the army on full pay in order once more to establish diplomatic relations with Great Britain and also to account for his own fears participated as follows in the horrible tragedy of three years

Col. Popovitch, who was apparently devoted to King Alexander and Queen Draga, worked for two years drawing young officers into the plot. He drew up a detailed plan of action and took a train from Nish to Belgrade on the night of the murder. He immediately took the lead with Col. Mashin in the slaughter.

Col. Mashin was Queen Draga's prother-in-law. He had fallen into dis favor and joined the conspiracy. He assisted at all the meetings of the conspirators, donned a uniform on the night of the murder and presented himself at the fortress as the new commander. He led the troops to the palace. When he arrived there the king and queen and Gen. Petrovitch, the commander, had not yet been discovered. With his help they were found and murdered. Lieut, Col, Mishitch had long been suspected as being a malcontent. The minister of war had overlooked him for promotion, and although King Alexander made amends by summoning him to the palace and personally conferring upon him the rank of lieutenant colonel, Mishifch never forgot the slight and took the most active part in the crime and assisted at the death scene. Lieut, Col. Lazarovitch was frequently in disgrace under the former regime, and only remained in the army through the influence of his relatives. He played a sanguinary part in the tragedy and with his own hand stabbed both the king and the

Capt. Kostitich was the commander of the royal guard. He had been loaded with favors by King Alexander, but having failed twice in the examination for the rank of major, joined the conspiracy to better his prospects.

RELIEVED OF HICCOUGHS. After Year's Suffering Philadelphia Girl Is Successfully

Treated. Philadelphia.-The horror of seeing a boy crushed beneath a trelley car more than a year ago brought to Mary Doshotesky, 18 years old, of 925 Federal street, an attack of hiccoughs that lasted until recently, when it left her. Just what remedy deserves the credit for the cure, the girl says she unable to decide. It was neither hypnotism nor mesmerism; of that she is sure. For 21 days she received treatment that included cauterizing of the upper part of the body and magnetic and electric massage, and at the end of that period she was pro-

May your ife be a noble one, too," said the Rev. Benjamin Gill, D.D., professor in the Pennsylvania State College, this mornng, as he handed a much-sought prize to James Augustus Wilson of Calhonu, Ala., a negro. The prize was one which Wilson won for having the best Wesleyan commencement essay among six white speakers. His subject was: "Shall the Negro Have a Part in American Politics?"

Wilson was born in Williamsport, Pa., in 1874. His mother was the daughter of parents who had both purchased their freedom. His father died when he was youth. In 1893. Wilson graduated from the Hampton Industrial School with honors, and then taught for five years in the negro school in Calhoun, Ala. In 1902 he gradauted from the Plattsburg (N. Y.) GORMAN'S SUCCESSOR

W. P. WHYTE OF MARYLAND GOES BACK TO SENATE.

"Grand Old Man" of State Takes Seat of Former Foe-Has Filled Every High Office in Gift of the Commonwealth.

Baltimore.-In the selection of William Pinckney Whyte, lovingly called the "Grand Old Man of the Maryland Democracy," to fill the unexpired term of the late Arthur Pue Gorman as United States senator, Gov. Warfield gave a tinge of the romantic to the culmination of the long and bitter feud between these two political lead-Warfield trained with the old machine when Gorman deposed Whyte from the party leadership and the senatorship.

For many years, and, in fact, until he was elected governor, Warfield was a close political ally of Gorman. When as governor he refused to sign the bill providing for a constitutional amendment to disfranchise the negroes which the machine made the issue of last year's state campaign, he and Gorman broke for good. Whyte and Senator Rayner also opposed the amendment and supported the governor. Whyte never dreamed that 25 years after Gorman had defeated him he would be called upon to fill the senatorship made vacant by the death of his old enemy.

Senator Whyte's habits and domes tic life are much like Gorman's were. He has never used tobaceo or drunk liquor. To his abstemious habits he largely attributes his health and vigor at 81. He has always been devoted to his family and home. It was Gorman's custom always to spend Sunday with his family. So it is Senator Whyte's.

The senator will travel back an forth to Washington every day. He not enamoured of Washington sock life, and did not participate in it when he was in the senate in the late 60's and again in the 70's. "Social life. said he, "is not conducive to straightforward legislation. It leads to too many compromises."

Whyte, as successor to Senator Gorman, will enter the United States senate for the third time. Although 81 years old, his wit is as sparkling today and his sarcasm as biting as it was 40 years ago, when he first won fame and distinction. There is noth ing in his appearance, except his whitened locks, to indicate his great age, but, on the contrary, he seems to possess a vitality that has long since been a thing of the past with men who followed him into the world 20 years later. His physical condition is excellent and those who have locked horns with him in the law courts in the last few years have every reason to believe that the Osler theory in Gov. Whyte's case is woefully inoperative.

As a legal light Gov. Whyte has no peer in Maryland. For years he has been at the head of the profession, and from present indications is likely to remain there to the end of his days. Aside from his legal successes he has also had a remarkable career in the political arena, having occupied nearly every office that was within the power of the people of Maryland to give. He has filled sucpessfully the office of governor, United States senator, mayor of Baltimore, comptroller of the state treasury, atan. During the last presidential campaign he demonstrated his capacity for work by making a tour of West Vir-ginia with his lifelong friend, ex-Senator Henry G. Davis, the vice presidential candidate of the Democratic party. Br-Gov. Whyte is a graduate of Harvard law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1846 and a year later he began his political career as a member of the Maryland house of delegates.

The right leg is about six inches long and the left leg four. Owing to this inequality in underpinning a hen is unable to take steps of equal length. When she endeavors to wander any distance from the coop she walks in a circle and soon finds herself back at her own door. Furthermore, there can be no scratching by hens with mismated legs. When a hen stands on the short leg the long one is put out of business and when she stands on the long one the short one can't reach the ground.

prominently those of Mr. Williams and Charles A. Towne, formerly United States senator from Minnesota, and now a Tammany representative in the house. It is understood Mr. Towne prefers to continue longer in active politics. While the tender has not been made to Mr. Williams, it is known that the board of visitors of the university considers him an ideal man for the place. He is an alumnus of the university, a graduate of Heidelberg and a profound scholar.

The probable passing of John Sharp Williams from active politics has revived the talk of Champ Clark for speaker of the house in the event of a Democratic victory next fall. Missourian was recently boomed for this high honor on the floor of the house and the announcement was received with prolonged applause on both sides of the chamber. The retirement of the Mississippian would add greatly to Mr. Clark's chances of becoming speaker.

Colonial Building at Dorchester, Mass., Used as a Dwelling for Nearly a Century.

Boston.-A rare example of the New England schoolhouse of colonial days is to be seen to-day in the dwelling Eastern Star Department, No. 243 house, 233 Hancock street, Dorchester, present occupant, Sebastian Cabot Peters.

The little, old building is popularly known as the old Mather schoolhouse a title not exactly correct, as the ing had become a dwelling. It did, however, once stand on the spot later occupied by the Mather school.

According to the standard history of Dorchester, this little schoolhouse was built in 1771, on Winter street, Meeting House hill, succeeding the first one on the hill, which had been built in 1694, every pupil of which was no benefit from the fire if he failed in such donation

In 1798, this second building having been found too small, was moved to its present situation, a story of brick roted to dwelling purposes

A brick school, which took its place, 50 years later received the name Wather school, in memory of Richard Mather, one of the first ministers in Dorchester and father and grandfaher of the two Mathers who cultirated the mania against "witches," over 200 years, ago.

It is said that Edward Everett atended this little wooden schoolhouse. and in later years several times visited it after it had become a dwelling, to revive pleasant memories of his boyain that another school in Dorcheste vas named the Everett school because idward Everett once attended it.

INSANE BULER OF BAVARIA GROWING WORSE

King Otto Said to Be Now Living Like a Wild Animal-Loyal Subjects Still Celebrate His Birthday.

Vienna.-In well informed quarters here it is considered probable that the insane King Otto of Bavaria will be deposed in the near future. A change in the Bavarian constitution, however, would be necessary before this could be done. King Otto, who was insane when he ascended the throne 20 years ago, has grown worse each year, and is now living like a wild animal. He permits nobody to approach him. H's only nourishment is bread crumbs and dried fruit. He is in a frightful condition from neglect, which his physicians and custodians are unable to remety because, according to monarchical tradition, they are not permitted to use

It is only once a year that the public hears anything of the insane king, and that is when his loyal subjects celebrate his birthday, as occurred the other week. "If your majesty will graciously permit." Even Herr von Rej. witz, the guardian of the king, must so address him, for this court etiquette requires. Majesty! This term bestowed on the unfortunate man is, indeed, a travesty, although, strange to say, while his memory is gone, he is still conscious of his high position.

A question which some years ago he addressed to a servant proves this. Believing that he spoke to one of his ministers, the king said: "Are the people satisfied? I hope so. Now tell me what time will the people ask to be entirely happy?" When the servant answered: "I do not know, your majesty," the king looked at him as graclously as if he had received a proper answer. His health is not good, and his passing away can only be a quesrian Alps. A magnificent park surrounds the castle, and the king's quarters are furnished in regal style. The king occupies a suite of rooms whose walls are covered by fine tapestries and which bear valuable paintings by some of the most famous artists. The appearance of King Otto, who, like his brother Ludwig, was one of the best looking princes in Germany, has entirely changed. Owing to his dislike of physical exercise he has grown stout and his head and face bear ong gray hair and beard. Owing to his objection to any physical examination the king's physicians are not certain whether he has any organic troubles Five years ago people who saw the king got the impression that his tragic life was coming to an end. He looked pale, but this appears to have been due to lack of exercise and irregular living. The king, with a strange stubbornness, never eats at the right time, so that the physicians decided to put only cold food before him rather than allow him to devour such as had become cold. As no force can be used the physicians and attendants frequently find it difficult to influence Otto to sleep or to take exercise. All kinds of subterfuges are needed to get him into the park, for he either does not go out of his room or he sits on a bench and gazes at the clouds. Former drives in the park have also been stopped, for the king objected. As to the present mental condition of the king, it is reported from Munich that he still recognizes people, sepecially those whom he knew in his youth. When he sees such persons he puts his hands to his head as if wishing to revive old memories, his pale face bears a smiling expression, and when the person before him bows he returns the greeting.

When he has a lucid moment the otors take advantage of the opportunity to make a diagnosis, and then prepare a report, which, of course, is kept secret, to the prince regent. But enough is known to make it seem certain that the passing of the king can be only a question of a few years.

His death will be a blessing for the prince regent and his family, for there still are people in Bavaria who con-ider the genial Luitpoid an interioper, and think he is imprisoning the king in order to come to the throne.

After his service with the battery, Maurice Shearer went to Ohio and there served as manager for a contracting company. The martial spirit bad seized on him, however, and one day his father received a letter to the effect that Maurice had enlisted as a private in the marine corps, at Buffalo, In the hope of working up to a commission. In the examination through which he obtained his commission as second lieutenant, he stood fourth in a large class, and he stood equally high in an examination he has recently taken at the end of a postgraduate course at Annapolis.

A few days ago he was ordered to report at Washington and was there informed that he was to have charge of Midway island. He was placed in charge of a detail consisting of 35 marines and several officers, and left San Francisco for Honoluku, where, with his detail, he will sp.end a month. He will then go to Mhdway island, five days' sail from Honolulu, and take possession.

SENATORSHIP.

Well-Known Agriculturist Has Refused Other Offices That He Might Help Farmers - Ex-Judge Benson Succeeds Burton.

Topeka, Kan.-F. D. Coburn, secretary of the state board of agriculture, who was tendered the appointment to succeed Joseph R. Burton in the United States senate, notified Gov. Hoch that he could not accept. The governor then offered the appointment to former Judge A. W. Benson of Ottawa, Kan. who accepted it.

The offer of the senatorial toga to Secretary Coburn was peculiarly popular among the farmers. But had he accepted it they would have been disgruntled, it is declared, for "Coburn of Kansas" was just the man for them, they said.

Their two daughters and son'are graduates of the state agricultural college. Coburn was made secretary of agriculture in 1881, after he had served a year as clerk in the department. He held the secretaryship for six years, when he resigned to edit the Kansas City Lifestock Indicator.

The late George W. Glick in 1882 made Coburn president of the agricultural college regents, a position the latter held till 1903, when he resigned because, as he said, his "old fogy" notions conflicted with the theoretics of the college president.

In 1894 Coburn was unexpectedly made secretary of the state board of agriculture again. He has remained there ever since. He was chosen chief of the department of livestock of the St. Louis exposition in 1902. As an authority on things agricultural "Coburn of Kansas" is renowned in England, Scotland, Canada, Australia and South Africa, where his works are used as text books.

A. W. Benson for 12 years was a judge of the Fourth district bench from which he retired eventually to return to the private practice of law. He was a member of the last legislature and gained a good deal of attention in that legislature by his ability. His speech against the state refinery bill in which he declared the measure un constitutional, became famous,

At that time Gov. Hoch express great admiration for Benson, and said that he would like to see him a mem ber of the supreme court bench. When the next vacancy on that bench oc curred people expected Hoch to appoin Benson, but they were disappointed.

A second vacancy on the same bench occurred and Hoch again missed the opportunity of appointing Benson by giving the position to another man, But Hoch did make Benson a member of the advisory committee appointed to work with the special accountant to investigate the books of all the state departments.

When a vacancy on the supreme bench occurred during Gov. Stanleys administration Benson was urged for appointment, but the railroads opposed it successfully.
